

The Law Of Progress

is as unchangeable as the famous laws of the Medes and the Persians.

The individual who spends more than he earns—or, as if far too often the case, spends all before he earns—travels in a hopeless circle. He cannot advance, and "he who does not advance, recedes."

The person who saves BEFORE he spends inevitably registers progress. Why not put the principle to the test?

WE SHOULD HAVE GYMNASIUM

Look out for locomotive Gym! A Gym! The biggest joke of the season is people that don't care for athletics.

We want a gym!—We're going to have a gym or bust!

Why do you object to athletics? Why, a gym is for you and for me—for exercise, for amusement, for physical culture—Oh for so many reasons!

A gym is to keep the boys away from pool rooms, drug stores, and picture shows. The Gym is as much to you mothers and fathers as it is to the E. D. H. S.

It helps the girls and boys to get more interested in school work and stay in off of the street so much.

Oh can't you hear our plea? Please! We must have a Gym!

A Student of Freshman Class.

The Girls' Basket Ball team of E. D. H. S. will play the basket ball team of the Ronovert High School on next Saturday at 2:30.

How would we enjoy the game? But no, such sport is not for us for we have no gymnasium to practice and work in.

Why have we none? Is it because you citizens of Marlinton take so little interest in our welfare that you will not furnish our school with one? Surely not, we hope, for you have been kind enough to help us with other things, so please spare a small sum to help build a gym.

The equipment of a modern up-to-date high school must include among other things, a gymnasium. Now the girls have no athletics at all. Is that good management? The women have at last won a place of recognition for themselves in politics, and the girls of E. D. H. S. should have a chance to make a name for themselves in athletics. And let us not forget a gymnasium would be used equally by the boys and girls.

Another side of the question is the example of the work in other schools. In Greenbank High school the enrollment is little more than half that of ours, yet the people of that community have seen the need of a gym and have furnished one to the school. If Greenbank High school can have a gym, surely, we of Marlinton can have one.

Boost the Gymnasium.

TURKEY SHIPPERS!

Do not sell your Thanksgiving Turkeys

Look out for what N. B. WHITE, 112 Callowhill St. Phila., has to say about the Thanksgiving market in this paper next week.

This Philadelphia House would like to hear from Every Turkey Shipper in this section in regard to Thanksgiving Turkeys.

Write whether you have few or many and they will give you prompt information regarding the market.

It will be to your interest to get in touch with this House.

Drop them a Postal Live Poultry also handled every day of the year.

Mrs. A. N. Cocks, a sister of Mrs. F. M. Sydnor, died at her home at Desputana, Va., on Monday night. Burial at old Blandford cemetery, at Petersburg on Wednesday afternoon.

YOUR TURKEYS

Nothing looks better to you than to see a flock of beautiful turkeys roaming the fields, and as you view them you invariably begin to plan and look forward to the actual dollars and cents you anticipate from this source. But just how, when and where to market, to reap the most are the utmost questions in your mind today.

MR. FARMER and MERCHANT allow us to state without successful contradiction, here is where the name of Farnk Hellerick & Co inevitably comes to your attention. In our 40 years experience we have made thousands of regular and substantial customers, who annually ship us their poultry. These people know that we are "fair and square" and above all capable of securing the right prices. Other farm products may be a little off owing to re-adjustment period but we wish to inform you the future poultry out-look is good with us.

Write us in regard to your poultry and we will be only glad to serve you.

TRAVEL NOTES

On July 29, 1920, I arrived at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, at the North Station. Having some time to wait for my son, Alex Gordon, I took an electrical train and went for sixty mile ride in the country. I saw some pretty farms and beautiful country homes, but the oddest sight to me was the level country as far as the eye could see.

On my return I was taken in a taxi to Alex's home, 2851, Idaho Road, Fairview, Camden, New Jersey. In this part of town, the residences are all of brick, with fine streets and walks. Collingswood joins Fairview on the east.

I went for a walk with my daughter-in-law, Alma. We sat at rest at a church built of stone. We passed home after home, each one seemingly more beautiful than the other. Finally we came to the one at the end of the street, and it fairly took my breath away. Words fail me when I attempt to describe it. The front yard was about five acres, a velvety lawn, beautiful trees of odd shapes and sizes, and the most wonderful flowers. The beauty of the place will always linger in my memory.

To a mountain man, the modern home is a wonder of convenience; hot and cold water, electric light, gas, and a radiator in every room. Cooking done with gas. All you have to do is to turn on the fuel, low or high as you desire, and strike a Match. Furnace in the basement. No stoves and no dirt, and the house temperate all over, or wherever desired. Porcelain tubs and sinks and everything to hand. Alex also had a good garden, with plenty of corn, beans and tomatoes.

Alma and I took in a lot of motion picture shows, and I certainly did enjoy them. On August 24th, we took a trip on a steamboat called the Wilmington, two hours and a half each way; stopped at Pennsboro, Chester, and Wilmington, Delaware. An airplane looped the loop around the boat. It was but a few feet from me. Our return trip was by moonlight.

Later my son and his wife took me to Trenton, the capital of New Jersey. Words almost fail me when I attempt to describe Cadwalder Park. It consists of 250 acres of the most beautiful grounds and flowers. There is a zoo here, with animals and birds and things from all over the world. The monkeys did some tricks as though they knew I was watching them. And the parrots of the gaudiest colors. The one that took my eye was old rose and light gray.

I was also at Palmyra, Riverton, Burlington and Riverside. At the latter place I saw the Keystone watchcase factory, the biggest of its kind in the world. These towns are all in New Jersey! To go to Philadelphia crosses the Pennsylvania Railroad Ferry. The fare is 3c, and it takes about 5 minutes to cross.

Gloucester, N. J. is a very pretty place. You can sit on a bench and see the largest boats go by. I was one of a party at the launching of a big boat. It was five hundred and seventy feet long, weight 13,000 tons. A very pretty girl, carrying a large bouquet of flowers, and a bottle of champagne in a silk crocheted bag, christened the boat. As I was standing but a foot away when the girl smashed the bottle on the boat, I had a good smell of the liquor! I also saw the great Hog Island shipyards, among the largest in the world, which was built by the United States during the war.

On August 30, I went to Claysville, Pennsylvania, to visit my oldest son, John Will Gordon. I took the train at Philadelphia, and changed cars at Pittsburgh. John Will lives nine miles out in the country, and he met me at Claysville. Had a fine visit but did not get to see out much of the country during the month I stayed there.

October 5, I arrived at Durbin at the home of my granddaughter, Mrs. Kenna Rexrode. Then a few days later John Williams took me over to his home in Highland county. For eleven years I lived five miles from his home. It was good to get back and view the old surroundings, though they have changed much since I left there in 1892 to move to Pocahontas county.

Returning by mail auto, I will spend about ten days with my daughter Mrs. W. W. Sutton, at Hosterman, and then home in time to vote. I have not missed an election in many a day.

I had splendid good health, never missed a meal, and was treated fine by everyone I met with.

MRS. GEORGE W. MALCOM

Mrs. Susan E. C. Malcom died in the Marlinton Hospital on October 13, 1920, after an illness of four weeks of typhoid fever, aged 52 years, four months and two days.

Mrs. Malcom was the daughter of Abraham and Mildred M. Shinaberry and was married early in life to George W. Malcom. When sixteen years of age Mrs. Malcom made a confession of her faith in Christ, and the remainder of her life she lived a devoted christian, always ready to lead or assist in any good work.

Surviving her are three sons, Elmer and Orville of Cass, and Edgar of Huntersville, her aged mother and nine brothers and sisters—Andrew and Charles, and Mrs. P. H. Lowe of Cloverlick; Mrs. S. M. Dickson, Mrs. P. Riley, Davis and Ira, of Virginia; Mrs. Charles Cooper of Oregon, and Marion, of Denver, Colorado.

Her body was laid to rest in the family burial ground near Poage Lane. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. C. P. Riedinger.

The writer joins in sorrow, knowing she is no longer with us, but can only wait for the days when dreams come true, for it is written, in my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. John 14: 2.

Why do we mourn for dying friends, Or shake at death's alarm? 'Tis but the voice that Jesus sends, To call them to his arms.

Are we not tending upward too, As fast as time could move? Nor should we wish the hours more slow, For God's call is love.

Timber For Sale

About 35 acres of nice young thrifty spruce timber, very tall trees, in size 18 inches and under, estimated to cut 1000 to 1200 cords of pulp. This pulp brings a good price on cars at Bartow, a distance of 12 miles, mostly down grade on a good road. Also some good hardwood adjoining, with nice set for portable mill. This spruce should be held as an investment. 12 miles east of Bartow, on Staunton and Parkersburg turnpike. Will sell at a bargain if sold soon. Apply to owner, J. P. HISE, Bartow, W. Va.

NOTICE

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Arboreal Mutual Telephone Company on October 28, a deal was closed whereby the Pocahontas Telephone Company will take over the lines and business of the Mutual Telephone Company. This is to notify all persons having claims against said Mutual Company to have their accounts in the hands of the secretary, J. B. Sutton, Dunmore, W. Va., by November 20, 1920.

E. A. Hudson, President.
